The Garage247 welcomes Regional VO Agent Kathleen Ham Donna Baldwin Talent in Denver, CO

Kathleen Ham is currently the Director of Broadcasting Media for Donna Baldwin Talent in Denver, CO, where she has run the VO department for 10 years.

"If you only work in one market, you're missing out BIG TIME!" says Kathleen Ham.

"Denver is a market that just continues to grow. In the last 4 years the increasing trend has been for the "big ad agencies" to break off, set up small shops and do biz their own way, to MUCH success.

The Denver market generally satisfies the regional needs, so our actual market is a wide net. Our best VO offering is national flavor coordinated with local agency relationships. For the client, it is the best of both worlds; they get new, exciting, larger talent market to choose from while keeping work in their own backyard. Believe me, the clients know what they want and what they want is the fact and idea that the talent they are choosing comes with their own version of big market brand ability.

This seminar will cover the basics with lots of extras, such as the type of work that dominates our market, what makes a successful agent relationship work from afar, protocol, the three "P's" and the equipment access necessary to makes it all happen. We will analyze what makes a winning demo and 'what's your money voice.'

I can't wait to share, spark some ambition and encourage you all to explore what's available outside L.A."
